WELCOME TO OR OLAM THE EAST 55TH STREET SYNAGOGUE

We hope you find both our services and this booklet meaningful. Please feel free to take a copy home with you; it contains not only the names of our loved ones and the Yizkor service itself, but a collection of meditations and readings which may be used at home on a yahrzeit, during a period of mourning, or on a visit to the cemetery.

Please join us in times of joy as well as mourning, at our Shabbat services or daily minyan, for holiday observations, classes, dinners and other programs. We are a participatory, fully egalitarian community where all are welcome. If you would like to learn more about our congregation, we invite you to make an appointment with our rabbi, Paulette Posner; to speak to any of our members; or to visit our website at www.east55.org.

We Remember Them

At the rising of the sun and at its going down,
we remember them.

*At the blowing of the wind and in the chill of winter,
we remember them.*

At the opening of the buds and in the rebirth of spring,
we remember them.

*At the shining of the sun and in the warmth of summer,
we remember them.*

At the rustling of the leaves and in the beauty of autumn,
we remember them.

*At the beginning of the year and at its end,
we remember them.*

As long as we live, they too will live;
for they are now a part of us,
as we remember them.

*When we are weary and in need of strength,
we remember them.*

When we are lost and sick at heart,
we remember them.

*When we have joy we crave to share,
we remember them.*

When we have decisions that are difficult to make,
we remember them.

*When we have achievements that are based on theirs,
we remember them.*

As long as we live, they too will live;
for they are now a part of us,
as we remember them.

YIZKOR זיכור

adapted from Siddur Sim Shalom for Shabbat and Festivals (Rabbinical Assembly, 1998, Rabbi Jules Harlow, ed.)

ה', מָה אָדָם וְתַדְעָהוּ, בֶּן אָנוּשׁ וְתַחֲשָׁבֵהוּ.
אָדָם לַהֲבֵל דָּמָה, יָמָיו כְּצֵל עוֹבֵר.
בְּבֹקֶר יֵצֵץ וְחֶלֶף, לְעֶרֶב יְמוּלֵל וְיָבֵשׁ.
תָּשֵׁב אָנוּשׁ עַד דְּכָא, וְתֵאמָר שׁוּבוּ בְנֵי אָדָם.
שׁוּבָה ה', עַד מָתִי, וְהִנָּחֵם עַל עֲבָדֶיךָ.

Loving God, what are mortals that You should take notice; or that You show consideration to them.

A mortal is a mere breath, our days like a shadow that slips away.
We are like grass that grows in the morning, is cut down in the evening and then withers.

You humble us and entreat us: "Return to me, my children."
Turn to us in love, do not delay, and pity us, Your servants.

There is a time for everything,
for all things under the sun:
A time to be born and a time to die,
a time to laugh and a time to cry;

*a time to dance and a time to mourn,
a time to seek and a time to lose,
a time to forget and a time to remember.*

This day in sacred convocation
we remember those who gave us life.

We remember those who enriched our lives with love and beauty, kindness and compassion, thoughtfulness and understanding.

We renew our bonds to those who have gone the way of all the earth, to those whose memory moves us this day.

As we reflect upon them, we seek consolation, and the strength and the insight born of faith.

As a parent shows love to a child,
Adonai embraces all who are faithful.

God knows how we are fashioned, remembers that we are dust.

Our days are as grass;
we flourish as a flower in the field.
The wind passes over it and it is gone,
and no one can recognize where it grew.

But Adonai's compassion for those who are steadfast, God's tenderness to children's children, remain, age after age, unchanging.

Three score and ten our years may number,
four score years if granted the vigor.
Laden with trouble and travail, life quickly passes; it flies away.

What are mortals, eternal God, that You should be mindful of them?

What are mortals, that You should take note of them, that You have made them little less than angels?

*The sounds of infants attest to Your power;
the magnificence of life reflects Your glory.
The heavens display Your splendor.
What majesty is Yours throughout the world!*

Teach us to use all of our days,
that we may attain a heart of wisdom.

Bless us with Your love in the morning, that we may joyously sing all our days.

שְׁוִיתִי ה' לִנְגְדִי תָמִיד, כִּי מִיָּמִינִי בֵּל אֲמוֹט:
לִבִּי שִׂמַּח לִבִּי וַיִּגַּל כְּבוֹדִי, אֶף בְּשָׂרִי יִשְׁכֵּן לְבִטָּח:

I have placed God as my guide forever.
God is ever with me, I am sure in my path.
Therefor my thoughts are happy and I am filled with joy.
I live in the security of my faith in God.

A Personal Meditation

Eternal God, Source of love, give us the gift of remembering. May our memories of the dead be tender and true, undiminished by time; let us recall them and love them, as they were. Shelter us with the gift of tears. Let us express our sense of loss – our sorrow, our pain, as well as our love, and words unspoken. Bless us with the gift of hope. May we always believe in the beauty of life, the power of goodness, the right to joy. May we surrender our being and the souls of the dead to Your all-knowing compassion.

We rise and continue with the appropriate passages from among the following, in silent meditation. Personal meditations, as well as those found on pages 17 to 23, may be added.

A Yizkor Meditation in Memory of a Parent Who Was Hurtful

Dear God,

You know my heart.

Indeed, You know me better than I know myself, so I turn to you before I rise for Kaddish.

My emotions swirl when I say this prayer. The parent I remember was not kind to me. His/her death left me with a legacy of unhealed wounds, of anger and of dismay that a parent could hurt a child as I was hurt.

I do not want to pretend to love, or to grief that I do not feel, but I do want to do what is right as a Jew and as a child.

Help me, O God, to subdue my bitter emotions that do me no good, and to find that place in myself where happier memories may lie hidden, and where grief for all that could have been, all that should have been, may be calmed by forgiveness, or at least soothed by the passage of time.

I pray that You, who raise up slaves to freedom, will liberate me from the oppression of my hurt and anger, and that You will lead me from this desert to Your holy place.

-- Robert Saks

Psalm 6

Lord, do not chastise me in Your wrath, do not punish me in Your fury.

Have mercy on me, Lord, for I am wretched.
Heal me, for my limbs are stricken.

And my life is hard stricken.

- and You, O Lord, how long?

Come back, Lord, deliver my life, rescue me for the sake of Your kindness.

For death holds no mention of You.
In Sheol who can acclaim You?

I weary in my sighing

I make my bed swim every night.

With my tears I water my couch.

From vexation my eye becomes dim, is worn out, because of all my foes.

Turn from me all you wrongdoers,
for the Lord hears the sound of my weeping.

The Lord hears my plea,

The Lord will take my prayer.

Let all my enemies be shamed and hard stricken,
let them turn back, be shamed in an instant.

-- translation by Robert Alter

Psalm 23

מִזְמוֹר לְדָוִד
ה' רֹעִי לֹא אֶחָסֵר.
בְּנִאוֹת דֹּשָׁא יִרְבִּיצֵנִי, עַל מֵי מְנוּחוֹת יִנְהַלֵּנִי.
נַפְשִׁי יִשׁוּבֵב, יִנְחֵנִי בְּמַעְגְלֵי צֶדֶק לְמַעַן שְׁמוֹ:
גַּם כִּי אֵלֶךְ בְּגִיא צַלְמוֹת
לֹא אִירָא רָע כִּי אִתָּה עֹמְדִי.
שִׁבְטְךָ וּמִשְׁעֶנְתְּךָ הֵמָּה יִנְחֻמֵּנִי.
תַּעֲרֹךְ לִפְנֵי שְׁלַחַן נֶגֶד צָרְרִי, דֹּשַׁנְתָּ בְּשֶׁמֶן רֹאשִׁי, כּוֹסֵי רוּחַ.
אֵךְ טוֹב וְחָסֵד יִרְדְּפוּנִי כָּל יְמֵי חַיִּי, וּשְׁבַתִּי בְּבֵית ה' לְאָרְךָ יָמִים.

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures;
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul;
He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil,
For thou art with me;
Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies;
Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life;
And I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

(on Yom Kippur):

l'ela mikol-

birkhata v'shirata, tushb'hata v'nehemata da-amiran b'alma, v'imru amen.

Y'he shlama raba min sh'maya v'hayim aleinu v'al kol-Yisrael, v'imru amen.

Oseh shalom bimromav, hu ya-aseh shalom aleinu v'al kol Yisrael, v'al kol yoshvei tevel, v'imru amen.

May God's name be exalted and hallowed throughout the world that God created, as is God's wish. May God's sovereignty soon be accepted, during our life and the life of all Israel. And let us say: Amen.

May God's great name be praised throughout all time.

Glorified and celebrated, lauded and worshipped, exalted and honored, extolled and acclaimed may the Holy Blessed One be praised beyond all song and psalm, beyond all tributes that mortals can utter. And let us say: Amen.

Let there be abundant peace from heaven, with life's goodness for us and for all Israel. And let us say: Amen.

May the One who brings peace in the Divine realms bring peace to us and to all Israel. And let us say: Amen.

THE EMPTY CHAIR

Jonathan spoke to David saying, "Your chair will be empty. You will be missed."

As our families gather around our dining room tables, whether welcoming the New Year, Passover, Thanksgiving, Hanukkah, or Shabbat, we often feel the presence of those who used to share our festival meals together. After a loss, Shabbat and the holidays are often times to realize that there is a chair at the family table that is empty.

Sitting at our dining tables, with the candles, china, silver, challah, wine, and good food, we can feel the spiritual presence of those who have sat with us in the past—those who have shared those meals, those who used to prepare the meals that we now prepare ourselves. Sitting in a sanctuary on Shabbat, Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, or other holidays we might well recall parents grandparents, children, teachers, and family members who are no longer alive, yet their presence is felt. It is as if there were an empty chair or place next to us where they should be.

The chair is empty, but we know they continue to be seated among us. There is consolation and comfort to be found in the awareness that we continue to feel the presence of those who have influenced and touched our lives. Their teachings, advice, and wisdom did not die with them. They are still present to us and alive through us.

It is fitting to recall those who have most profoundly shaped us. They sit at our side. Their spirit is felt in our homes. They will always merit a place at our tables, for they have earned a place in our hearts. May we continue to be blessed with the gift of memory, and may we strive to live our lives in fulfillment of the noblest values and most sacred visions of those who have loved us and those whom we have loved.

-- Samuel N. Gordon

THE TREE KNOWS

Naked and lonely,
Bereaved of her children,
The brood of green foliage,
The tree stands in the winter cold
Shaking in the wind.
She bears witness to her faith
That the world will green again.
The storm bends her,
But she remains rooted.
In the spot
Where God or man Stationed her.

She knows through the wisdom
Imbined in her flesh
That storms recede,
That spring returns,
That her hard limbs
Will grow soft again
At the touch of a warmer sun,
And the crown of new foliage
Will mark the renewal
Of her life.

-- Ben Zion Bokser

THIS IS MY PRAYER

This is my prayer to You, my God:
Let not my spirit wither and shrivel in its thirst for You and lose the dew with which You sprinkled it when I was young.

May my heart be open to every broken soul,
to orphaned life,
to every stumbler wandering unknown and groping in the shadows.

Bless my eyes, purify me to see man's beauty rise in the world, and the glory of my people in its redeemed land spreading its fragrance over all the earth.

Deepen and broaden my senses to absorb a fresh green, flowering world, to take from it the secret of blossoming in silence.

Grant strength to yield fine fruits, quintessence of my life,
steeped in my very being,
without expectation of reward.

And when my time comes-- let me slip into the night demanding nothing, God, of man, or of You.

-- Hillel Bavli, translated from the Hebrew by Rabbi Norman Tarnor

Life is not fair. The wrong people get sick and the wrong people get robbed and the wrong people get killed in wars and in accidents.

Some people see life's unfairness and decide, "There is no God; the world is nothing but chaos." Others see the same unfairness and ask themselves, "Where do I get my sense of what is fair and unfair? Where did I get my sense of outrage and indignation, my instinctive response of sympathy? Don't I get these things from God? Doesn't God plant in me a little bit of the divine outrage at my injustice and oppression, just as God did for the prophets of the Bible? Isn't my feeling of compassion for the afflicted just a reflection of the compassion God feels in seeing the suffering of God's creatures?"

Our responding to life's unfairness with sympathy and righteous indignation, God's compassion and God's anger working through us, may be the surest proof of all of God's reality.

-- Rabbi Richard Levy

There are stars whose radiance is visible on earth though they have long been extinct.

There are people whose brilliance continues to light the world even though they are no longer among the living.

These lights are particularly bright when the night is dark.

They light the way for human kind.

-- Hannah Senesh

It is hard to feel serene when our world is not complete, when those who once brought wholeness to our life have gone. Yet in the emptiness their passing leaves behind, we are not alone. For we have the companionship of the living, and even our loved ones who have died live on in our hearts, for what they were is part of what we have become. We honour them best when we live, as they would wish, responsibly and happily, even in the shadow of our loss, and so draw closer to the Source of life, in whom life finds meaning, purpose, and hope.

-- Richard Levy

Say the old masters, "What is life like?" "Life," said they, "is like a musical instrument." God plays upon the instrument. The time may come when the instrument that had felt the touch of the hand of God, and had responded to its caressing, may crumble and fall into dust. But they who have heard the melody will have its notes ring in their ears to their last day. Our beloved one was a musical instrument in the hands of God. Eagerly, faithfully, he answered with the melody of his life to the touch of God's hands. We know that mortal remains will go back to dust, but we have heard the melody.

The death of those close to our hearts grieves and humbles us. It devastates our lives, lives that once were filled with the warmth of their presence. It reminds us that we all must die, even the most humble and righteous among us. And yet we know that life does not end at the grave; the soul lives on. How, then, do we accept the reality of death? By remembering the goodness of our loved ones and by shaping our lives after their example. For the memory of the righteous is truly a blessing, an inspiration for all our days. May our lives be worthy of their memory, always.

When my loved one is taken from me, shall I mourn?
When my dear one departs forever, shall I wail and rend my flesh as I do my garment?
No! That is not the way.

*I may find the road ahead lonely.
I may dread tomorrow without that voice, without that smile.
I may not know whence will come the courage to continue Yet I shall not despair!*

I shall praise God who gave me my beloved.
I shall sing unto God who enables us to love.
I shall voice thanks for what I have had.
I will refuse to become bitter over what I shall lack.

*When my loved one leaves me, I shall indeed shed tears.
Yet, even then, I shall utter a hymn --
A song of joy for what has been.*

BARUKH ATAH ADONAI!
Praised are You, O God!
You have allowed me to know love;
You have granted me an eternal treasure.

-- Simcha Kling

Reflections

“To live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die”

“Those we have loved live on in the kindness they showed, the comfort they shared, and the love they brought into our lives.”

“Those we have loved and lost are never truly gone.
They live on in the kindness they shared,
in the comfort they offered,
and in the love they brought into our lives.

Their voices echo in our prayers,
their values guide our choices, their light continues to shine in our community.

May their memory inspire us,
strengthen us,
and bless us all the days of our lives”
